The Eagle Got the Fish.

At this junction of the thoroughfare and Island lake on a dead pine more than 100 feet high sat a white headed eagle. In the air a large fishhawk was sailing over the water looking for his dinner 200 or 300 feet below him. What penetrating orbs of vision nature has endowed this bird with! There, he gives his lightninglike shot to the water, seems almost submerged, only to reappear with a four pound pike in his talons. Slowly he rises, going toward the woods, where he hopes to enjoy his well earned meal, but he has reckoned without his host. The king of birds has been watching his every movement and, if found successful, is in readiness to exact that tribute which the stronger always demands and compels from the weak.

Almost quick as thought the eagle is pursuing the hawk, and for a little while a merry chase it is. But the eagle is the master, and the hawk instinctively feels it, as after a sudden, violent swerve, only just to evade the terrible claws of the now enraged eagle, he drops the prize and slowly flies to the other end of the lake.

There is no need for haste now, as the master was after tribute, not the hawk. Payment having been made by relinquishing valuable property, the eagle once more displays his wonderful activity by catching the pike before it strikes the water and then as leisurely to cover to gormandize.—Forest and Stream.

Straw Horseshoes.

Straw is put to strange uses in Japan. Most of the horses are shod with straw. Even the clumsiest of cart horses wear straw shoes. In their case the shoes are tied around the ankles with straw rope and are made of the ordinary rice straw, braided so that they form a sole for the foot about half an inch thick. These soles cost about a half penny per pair, and when they are worn out they are thrown away. Every cart has a stock of fresh new shoes tied to the horse or to the front of the cart, and in Japan it was formerly the custom to measure distance largely by the number of horseshoes it took to cover the distance. So many horseshoes made a day's journey, and the average shoe lasted for about eight miles of travel.

The Lobster.

A scientist has entered a protest against the use of the term "lobster" as an epithet implying lack of skill or courage. He says that lobsters on the Nova Scotian coast draw up in battle array and fight for hours according to thoroughbred rules, the coast being littered with claws and other evidences of dismemberment when the struggle is over.

A Heroine.

In a cemetery on the banks of the St. Lawrence river, near Prescott, is an epitaph saying that the stone was "erected to the memory of Elizabeth Richardson, who heroically defended the life of her lover by sticking a pitchfork in a mad cow's nose." The heroic Miss Richardson was 38 years old when she died.

If a man has a good scheme and makes money out of it, people call him a genius; if he loses, they call him a fool.—Chicago News.

The Queen.

"My wife," he said proudly, "has been known as the queen of hearts."

"No doubt," they answered. "It was because she took the knave."—Chicago Post.

HOME POLITICS.

There does not appear to be much interest taken in the political future of Washoe county, which may have its origin in old political conditions that continue present to the detriment of a more liberal and enlightened order of business interests. The rings may be fixing things upon the old line of bossism that has ruled and ruined the State, and which is now ruling and ruining the United States by assailing the foundations of government.

William J. Bryan is before the people as their champion in matters of reform and good government in the federal system, which the people, in his person, are supporting with a will that is surprising to the bosses who have succeeded to the management of politics and government, to the destruction of every principle in government held sacred by the more intelligent among the people. Government by the people begins at home, it may be said, upon the hearthstone of each home in the land. There is where the principles are taught that will secure in the future, as in the past, American institutions for the people.

It is about the fireside where Americans are developed who will secure by their votes in the future freedom for themselves and the great body of the people. Government in its best sense is taught in the home, and not at public meetings or in the mere fact of depositing a ballot upon election day. A knowledge of the fundamental principles upon which American institutions have their abiding place is developed at home, when the mind is free to think upon the blessings that are bestowed upon the American home through the freedom there is given for the enjoyment of life and the pursuit of happiness.

The means used to destroy these blessings, through corruption and misgovernment in its many phases, are taught by bosses, together with all the means used for the corruption of the voter wherever opportunity may be present. These corrupting influences are not taught in the home where pure American ideals are nurtured and patriotic resolves are made. The time is upon the people when they are becoming aware that they have been neglecting a duty there is upon each American to preserve the purity of American institutions, that the home may remain what it has been to the citizen who lives under a government secured by the people for the people.

If being true that government is taught in and begins at home, should it not in its practical work begin at home—that is, in the town and county? Should good and pure government begin in the town and county and remain pure in these departments or municipalities, it will be impossible to corrupt it in the State or in the United States.

The people of Nevada have had many object lessons in bossism, more perhaps than any people in any community in the United States with their corrupting influences and political destroying tendencies. In these lessons they have learned that the purpose and object of the boss is to destroy political virtue at home where the fountains of pure government have their origin and flow over the land to bless the people with the fruits of freedom and individual rights. A work is going forward at this time in Reno by Wallace, the chief boss, and his henchmen, who claim to be citizens of the State to secure through corruption a success in the interest of those who have disgraced the State for three decades and who are endeavoring to continue the conditions that have been upon the State for that period of time.

A few of these men claim to be Democrats, others among them claim to be Silver men, and others are identified with the Republican party, where they properly belong as politics are conducted from Mark Hanna down. These men have no politics or political principles they will not sacrifice at the bidding of the boss. They claim to be identified with a political party to aid them to cover their political iniquity which they engage in to aid in destroying the free institutions of their country through a removal of the safe guards that the declaration and constitution have thrown around the rights of the individual citizen.

They were unusually plentiful in Reno Tuesday evening. They were so plentiful that it called to mind a gathering of witches for a dance in the dark hours of the night. There was nothing good connected with the appearance of so many of the old gang whose business it has been and continues to be to enslave the people through corrupt means. Charley, chief boss, was in town to instruct his henchmen in ways that are dark till the plans are revealed by the votes after the polls are closed on the day of the election. Democrats and Silver men are before the people in the garbe of reformers who claim to follow in the foot steps of Bryan to secure good government through a maintenance of American institutions supported by American principles recognized in free government. The ticket presented by the Democratic and Silver parties should be and is worthy of the support of free men who are seeking a better condition of government in the State and it is the duty of those who are seeking reform to stand uninfluenced by corrupt methods and give the ticket a firm support.

HAPPENINGS IN NEVADA

News of All the Counties in the State Clipped From Exchanges.

Hay is selling for $4 per ton in Lovelock valley.

The furniture and fixtures of the Nevada Bank at Virginia have been shipped to Overton.

Lem Allen of Churchill has received the fusion nomination for Assemblyman of that county.

Edward Berriman has been appointed postmaster at Prospect, Eureka county, vice A. R. Gibson, resigned.

Alice B. Preuss of Oklahoma has been appointed a teacher in the Carson Indian school at $540 per year.

The Festive Pigskin.

Considerable interest centers about tomorrow's game between the University Sophomores and Freshmen. The latter had a larger amount of material to select from, but the former benefit by the practice they obtained last year. It looks at present like anybody's victory.

The first game by the Varsity team will take place on the 13th in this city. The doughty redskins from the Carson training school will come down after eleven scalps.

The Reno Directory.

The last pages of the Reno directory will be printed tomorrow, and as quickly as the binding can be done they will be delivered to subscribers and advertisers. While they are being bound Mr. Cohen will call on the business men who have not ordered a copy of same and show them what the directory is, and after seeing the sample of it there is no doubt that every business man in Reno who has not ordered a copy of the same will do so.

Substantial Assistance.

The Nevada Red Cross Society has forwarded $50 to Miss Clara Barton at Galveston and the Carson local Red Cross sent $25. This with the $50 sent by the Reno society makes $125 sent by the Red Cross societies of the State. It is understood that several individuals have contributed smaller amounts.

DELICIOUS HOT LUNCH

—Served every day at—

SACRAMENTO BEER HALL.

No. 11, Commercial Row.

An Ingenious Toper.

An eminent tragedian, given to intoxicants, was once locked up in a room at the rear of the theater to keep him in proper condition till he was called to go on the stage. One door of the compartment opened on the street, and while looking through the keyhole he saw a man passing.

Calling him up to the door, he pushed some money through a crack and instructed him to go to the public house at the opposite corner and procure a pint of gin and a clay pipe, promising to reward him for his trouble.

The man did as directed, and when he returned with the articles, the actor told him to put the stem of the pipe through the keyhole and pour the gin carefully into the bowl.

These instructions the accommodating individual also followed, and the result was that when the manager called to notify him of his turn he found him in a very happy frame of mind, but not at all in a condition calculated to add to his fame as an actor.—London Tit-Bits.

From Sky to Pawnshop.

Pawnbrokers take some curious pledges, but it is not often that they receive one from another world. A London pawnshop, however, exhibits in its window as an unredeemed pledge a magnificent aerolite, a mass of fused metal that fell, as it were, from heaven to provide a poor man with his beer. A ticket bears the statement that it was brought from the arctic regions by a sailor.—New York Tribune.

Useful Some Day Perhaps.

Husband—What! You bought an artificial arm?

Wife—Yes, dear. It was a great bargain, and—

Husband—Great Scott! What are you thinking of? You haven't any earthly use for such a thing.

Wife—But, dear, you know you travel on the railroads a great deal, and you can never tell what may happen.—Philadelphia Press.

A Queer Military Law.

When a British soldier is taken a prisoner of war, he is guilty of an offense against the queen and is liable to be put upon trial should there be any doubt that he gave up his liberty when there was really no necessity to do so. He must then prove that it was impossible for him to take any other course without uselessly throwing away his life.

It is less than five weeks until the day when the battle of ballots will take place, but "nothin's doin'" in politics, except for the activity of a few committeemen at the headquarters of each party.

The nominees are a trifle blander than before the conventions, but, to repeat, there's "nothin' doin'." Another week may see the political pot boiling over and threatening to put out the fire, but, for the third time, "nothin's doin'."

A SACK OF GOLD

Seven Thousand Dollar Brick From Olinghouse Gulch.

W. C. Williams stepped off the west bound passenger yesterday morning with a canvas sack thrown over his shoulder. He strolled over to the Grand Central and chucked the sack back of the bar, and said to Dan O'Keefe:

"Look after the sack. It's got forty-two pounds of gold in it."

Sure enough there was just $7,560 of yellow metal. It was the clean-up from ninety tons of Gold Ledge rock he had run through the Slip mill in Olinghouse canyon.

Mr. Williams was accompanied by J. F. Poole, the mill man. The two journeyed up to Carson yesterday to cash in the truck.

It is less than three years since "old man" Williams took the first nugget out of Olinghouse canyon. Since then the place has grown to be one of the liveliest little camps in Nevada. Williams is making a pile of money out of his claims. This is his third clean-up for the season, and he has slathers of rich rock in sight.

Jeff Poole informed the JOURNAL that his mill would begin working the Dondero dump in a few days. A big wad of amalgam will doubtless result, as this mine is producing almost as good rock as is being taken from the Gold Ledge.

An orchestra consisting of harp, violin and piano is an innovation at the Palace. This establishment began serving free hot lunches last night.

E. L. King and E. M. Wees, present incumbents, respectively of the offices of Justice of the Peace and Constable of Verdi township, are the only candidates in the field for re-election.

A Strong Candidate.

Frank Folsom's card appears in this issue of the JOURNAL. He is running a great race and will be the next constable by a good safe majority. Frank will make a capable officer He is both honest and fearless. The allegation that he is not a citizen of this city is absolutely untrue. Although he did not seek the office he is making a clean hard fight for himself and the entire fusion ticket. Vote for Frank.

Total Loss.

The residence of G. B. Avansino, six miles south of this city, was entirely destroyed by fire about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The blaze originated between the ceiling and roof, caused by a cracked terra cotta flue. Only a little bedding was saved. The loss is $1,800, with light insurance.

A Funny Campaign.

Thomas Wheeler sent the JOURNAL the following clipping from a Kansas paper:

"Senator Stewart of Nevada signalizes his return to the Republican fold by a forcible and concise statement of reasons why Bryan and his party should be beaten. It is not often that so much political horse sense is found in so little space."—Indianapolis Journal.

O dear! and its only a little while since all the Republican papers were calling Senator Stewart a windy old fool. Stewart left us because he says we abandoned silver and the Republican organs curse us because they say we are in favor of silver and nothing else. What a funny campaign!

A Jag for a Dime.

Last evening a young man, wearing Uncle Sam's uniform, wandered into a Virginia street saloon and asked for a beer bottle. It was given him. "Fill it half way with water." The order was obeyed. "Now put in ten cents' worth of gum." The gum was forthcoming. The young artillary man produced a vile of crude alcohol, poured it into the beer bottle, paid for the gum and departed.

Death of a Well Known Man.

Wood Larson, a resident of Mono county, and who was well known in this city, died in Bodie Tuesday night, as a result of injuries sustained by falling from a wagon.

Mr. Larson was a man of sterling qualities and kindly manner. He was a native of Norway, and was aged 65 years. A bereaved wife, three sons and three daughters mourn their loss.
